Formative Assessment #1:	3 (out of 3)	Hey David! Thank you! This is great feedback. You and I can set aside time to Skype if you want. I like to just chat with students as time allows. Another student commented in this assessment that she was thankful that you were in the class as you have become the class cheerleader/facilitator and made the experience much better for her. I would agree. So, thank you as well for what you have done in and for the class. Dr H
Project 1:	15 (out of 15)	Great job as usual David. If we every get approval to hire graduate assistants at a distance, would you be interested?
Project 2:	15 (out of 15)	I am sorry for being a little late on this and will take my own lapses in grading into consideration when I review each module. This plan looks very solid and goes well beyond the minimum required. Speaking generally (some of this may or may not apply), I would simply suggest trying to keep the technology focus more on student use and student learning and not centered around the instructor, focus on as much interactivity and engagement as you can and present the information in a variety of formats (podcasts, videos, web links and not just text), know your audience and cater to them, makes goals, directions and objectives very clear and measurable, create a community of learners using communication tools, and make sure the module is paced well. Whew! Sounds like a lot I know, but I am not looking for perfection. I am looking to see that you have learned and applied good instructional design principles for this online medium. I look forward to reviewing your module! Best, Dr H

Project 3:	25 (out of 25)	Please see the attached. I have decided to review the module using the course review instrument. Some of these items do not really apply to a single module or were not required, but I thought it might help to review it in this fashion. Overall, I am very impressed with everyone's efforts. I did not grade harshly on this because it was a first try. However, this was outstanding work! I am more interested in effort than perfection for this initial design project. Sorry it took so long to get back to you. Cheers! Dr H
Project 4a: Ind Course Reviews:	15 (out of 15)	Nicely done! I hope you found this project informative, useful, applicable, and challenging. Please remember to submit your course evaluation if you haven't already done so. I very much enjoyed having you in class! Cheers! Dr H

Dropbox: Project 4b: Presentation:	15 (out of 15)	Truly a really good job! I want to show you how the work you are doing on the Henry County Project is making an impact and a difference in the field of K-12 online learning. So, in the Henry Co. discussion thread I attached a poster for the presentation we did a few weeks ago at AERA, the most prestigious research conference in education! Also, I am attaching the first draft of the article write-up about round one of this project. This will be published in a journal soon (we are currently deciding where to submit). The data presented there is from last year's group, but your data will be added to future articles and presentations. I wanted you to know we are getting the word out, and you are making a real difference for the teachers teaching the classes and for the kids taking the courses. I appreciate all your hard work this semester! Cheers! Dr H

Project 4c: Video Walk-through:	15 (out of 15)	Nicely done! This is a new component to the project that was suggested by the Henry Co. folks, and I think it really helps clarify the review process. I applaud all your hard work this semester and have very much enjoyed having you in class. As our "guinea pig" out of state student, you blew me away. I really hope we get to work together again in the future. Cheers! Dr H
