The Obama administration is considering a broad warning for U.S. citizens to avoid public places in Europe due to new Al Qaeda threats. Intelligence officials believe Osama bin Laden is behind the terror plots to attack several European cities, which would be the largest operational role he's played in plotting attacks since 9/11.

After the economy slipped into recession in 2008, millions of Americans received unemployment benefits to make ends meet -- including almost 3,000 millionaires. According to U.S. Internal Revenue Service data, 2,840 households reporting at least $1 million in income on their tax returns that year also collected a total of $18.6
